Summer of fun

THOUSANDS of visitors will be visiting the borough this summer as part of our events programme.

From Ironman UK to Bolton Food and Drink Festival our events calendar puts Bolton firmly on the map as a host of nationally significant events. Visitors have already taken part and watched Boltfest, Ironman UK, and Horwich festival of Racing.

The highlight of the summer, the Bolton Food and Drink Festival, is still to come and you can find out more inside. More than 267,000 visited the event last year, which is organised by Bolton Council in association with Aldi, and it holds the reputation of being the biggest and best food festival in the north. Bolton town centre is turned into a massive street party of food, drink and entertainment.

It will take place on Friday, August 24 to Monday, August 27.

It's all part of showing how we are committed

FESTIVAL FUN: Ainsley Harriott proved the hit of festival last year to the long term future of the town centre as not just a place to shop but as a destination to live, visit and invest.

Businesses and town centre organisations benefit greatly from our investment in the festival and other events in terms of increased income and footfall. This is particularly important in the light of the challenges of the changing face of retail and the need to support the high street.

The festival is one of the key events to bringing visitors into the borough as part of our wider tourism strategy – IronMan UK and Ironkids, and the Christmas Lights Switch On and Winter Festival – all designed to showcase the borough portraying a positive image regionally, nationally and internationally.

It's part of our annual visitor figures beyond 6.5 million people and more than £432m in revenue generated for the local economy.

Having events as part of our regeneration strategy is essential for our future success to create a vibrant town.

You Can Foster in Bolton

Can you do something incredible and help a local child in foster care achieve their ambition?

The You Can Foster campaign is encouraging more people to come forward and foster for their local authority. In Bolton we really need more foster carers, especially for siblings and teenagers.

As well as providing a loving home for children and young people in care fostering can be rewarding for carers too.

Sean and Karen had previously fostered for a private agency but transferred to Bolton because they felt that only a Local Authority could offer them the professional support they needed when fostering teenage boys.

Sean recalls the first time he took a foster child into his house and says that it was really strange, no mistake, but after the first couple of weeks it became totally natural.

If you've got a spare room and some time to care for a child or young person get in touch with our team to find out more about whether fostering is right for you and your family.

Find out more at youcanfoster.org/Bolton, call us on 0800 107 1564 or search for us on Facebook as Foster With Bolton.

“It's the one thing most people ask me when they're thinking about fostering,” he says. “What it feels like to bring someone new into your house. I understand why they're asking but honestly you don't notice after a while. I think becoming a foster carer has made me a more patient person and that's a great thing.”

“I think I must have been very impatient when I was younger,” he laughs. “I'm not now, that's for sure.”

“If I was to offer one piece of advice to a new carer it would be to make sure that you make the young person a genuine member of the family,” says Sean. “Once you do that there is no longer a stranger in your home, and you're building up trust with someone who's probably had very little trust in their life. It really does make all the difference. I know it has with us and the teenagers we've looked after.”

Next piece of town centre jigsaw

THE council has bought the Crompton Place shopping centre for £14.8m to help accelerate its £1bn town centre regeneration masterplan.

Property management company JLL will continue to run the centre, which contains 46 retail units; kiosks; office accommodation, and a 285-space car park.

The purchase has been funded from the council's £100m town centre fund. The fund is financed through a low interest loan which is repaid using dividends from Manchester Airport and the Yorkshire Purchasing Company.

Leader of Bolton Council, Cllr Linda Thomas said: "The purchase of Crompton Place is fundamental to support the regeneration and transformation of our town centre.

"It is at the heart of our town's civic and retail core and this deal means we now have control of a major strategic site that is critical to delivering the Town Centre Masterplan.

"We will now be focusing on ways to regenerate the area for the long term benefit of the town centre and our residents across the borough.

"We have carried out extensive due diligence checks before acquiring the centre and these have confirmed that the purchase price reflects current market conditions and represents fair market value.

"Bolton is following the example of many other local authorities across the country that have also invested in their local shopping centres to deliver regeneration schemes.

"There will be no changes in the day to day operation and running of the shopping centre in the immediate future, to ensure it continues to operate smoothly for tenants and shoppers."

Over the coming months, detailed ideas for regenerating the centre will be developed and in the long term council chiefs envisage building a completely new centre.

The regeneration of Crompton Place will form part of the council's wider, longer-term plans to improve the town centre for the benefit of everyone in the borough, including surrounding districts.

Message from the Leader

Councillor Linda Thomas

JUBILANT celebrations swept the country in July to mark the 70th anniversary of our National Health Service.

It was a testament to the true passion our country feels towards the institution and the millions of thankful lives its tireless professionals touch every year.

Bolton's birthday present – wrapped with the ambition to ensure the survival of our NHS for another 70 years – was an historic partnership between Bolton Council and local NHS organisations to join up the disjointed system we have all experienced at one point or another.

Partners

Collaborating as equal partners is essential as we face up to the challenges of a population that is living longer with more complex health needs.

The partnership includes the council, Bolton NHS Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) – which commands a £380m budget and is responsible for commissioning and buying health services for residents – Royal Bolton NHS Trust, charities and community groups, alongside Greater Manchester Mental Health Trust.

By working together we will be able to avoid duplication, fill any gaps and make more effective use of skills, budgets, and resources.

For further information about how the council and NHS will work together please turn to page 5.

New Farnworth Bus Station open for business

FARNWORTH Bus Station has re-opened following a £1.9m investment.

Passengers will find improved bus shelters, seating and street lighting; CCTV; cycle parking; improved journey information and wayfinding signage.

The junction of King Street and Market Street has also been upgraded to improve walking routes into the town centre and bus journeys to and from the new bus station.

A number of improvements have also been made to key town centre bus stops on Market Street, pedestrian crossings have been upgraded and footways resurfaced.

The project was developed by Transport for Greater Manchester and Bolton Council as part of the Salford Bolton Network Improvement Programme to make better transport links, and funded through the Greater Manchester Local Growth Deal.

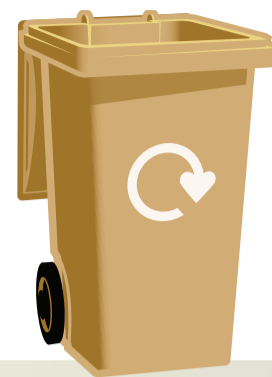

Leader of Bolton Council, Cllr Linda Thomas, added: "This investment in the bus station and public realm will really help to regenerate the whole area. We're committed to Farnworth and we continue to work with our partners and the local community to make change happen.

NEW START: Councillor Ebrahim Adia, Deputy Leader of the Council, and Councillor David Chadwick, Executive Cabinet Member for Highways and Transport at the new station

Leading the way looking after vulnerable children

BOLTON is officially one of the best authorities in the country when it comes to looking after its most vulnerable children.

Ofsted inspectors have given Bolton Council a 'Good' rating following an intensive review of its children's social care services last month.

The council was praised for its good social work practice and for improving the experiences and outcomes of vulnerable children who are looked after:

- Children who need help and protection are supported by timely and effective services
- Services delivered by skilled social workers.
- Children are listened to
- Children's views taken into account via a dedicated forum, Voice4U.
- Social workers build effective relationships with families

- Creative direct work is undertaken with children to ensure that their wishes and feelings are understood and prioritised.
- Senior leaders and politicians have a clear focus on prioritising support and financial resources for the most vulnerable children.
- The Children's Champion ensures that children's voices influence wider council issues.

Only a handful of authorities have been inspected under the new Inspection of Local Authority Children's Services framework (IL-ACS) which was introduced by Ofsted this year.

Bolton's last inspection in 2014 resulted in a rating of Requires Improvement and the department has worked hard to make valid changes which go towards enhancing a young person's experience of the service.

Cabinet Member for Education, Schools, Safeguarding and Looked after Children, Cllr Ann Cunliffe, said: "This is absolutely fantastic news and I'm so pleased for everyone in the department as I know they have worked incredibly hard to make improvements.

"The views and best interests of the borough's most vulnerable children are the heart of everything we do, and I'm delighted that this has been reflected in Ofsted's judgement."

Joining forces to deliver health and social care

BETTER TOGETHER: Tony Oakman (Chief Executive of Bolton Council), Cllr Linda Thomas (Leader of Bolton Council), Dr Wirin Bhatiani (Chair of Bolton CCG), Su Long (Chief Officer of Bolton CCG), and Jackie Bene (Chief Executive of Bolton NHS Foundation Trust).

HEALTH and social care organisations in Bolton are joining forces to improve the health and wellbeing of residents.

Bolton received £28.8 million in 2016 from the Greater Manchester Health and Social Care Partnership to take more control of the way it provides health and care services.

The new partnership will deliver the health and care system for the borough and includes NHS Bolton Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG), Bolton Council and Bolton NHS Foundation Trust alongside organisations including Greater Manchester Mental Health Foundation Trust and representatives from the community voluntary sector.

Currently, teams within each organisation separately commission services for local residents such as care home places, home care and learning disability services. By working together, they will be able to avoid duplication and fill any gaps, make effective use of skills and resources, and improve the integration of services for the borough.

The Integrated Care Partnership will bring together hospital, community health, social care, community voluntary sector and GP services. It will co-ordinate care in neighbourhoods and remove the boundaries between organisations supporting staff to help the person in the centre stay well, connected and at home for as long as they are able, so that demands on our hospital and long term care are reduced.

The Leader of Bolton Council, Cllr Linda Thomas, said: "At the moment, people receiving health and social care services can often feel like the system is disjointed and they find themselves seeing a range of different professionals, and having to tell their story over and over again. Combining our skills and budgets is the logical thing to do and marks the start of an exciting journey for us all."

Dr Wirin Bhatiani, Chair of Bolton CCG, added: "With people living longer, with more complex health needs, we need to adapt our health care accordingly, and continuing as we are is simply not an option. By bringing clinicians and politicians around the table together, I am confident we can make the best decisions for Bolton people with our limited resources."

Jackie Bene, Chief Executive of Bolton NHS Foundation Trust, said: "Our aim is to ensure more people receive the support they need in their own community. By joining up teams working in neighbourhoods and focusing on the person's individual needs, visits to hospital will only happen when absolutely necessary."

Amazon recruitment begins

AMAZON has announced that recruitment has opened for associate roles at its new fulfilment centre, due to open in Bolton in August.

Amazon is recruiting for a range of positions, from operations managers to engineers to HR and IT roles.

For more information about positions available and future recruitment events visit www.jobsatamazon.co.uk

Amazon announced plans in October 2017 to open the new fulfilment centre in Bolton in 2018 and recruit for 1200 new, full-time permanent jobs.

The investment in a new fulfilment centre in Bolton will take the total number of permanent jobs Amazon has created in the North West of England to more than 3500.

Wages start at £8 an hour and all permanent fulfilment centre employees are given stock grants, which over the last five years were on average equal to £1000 or more per year per person. Fulfilment centre employees also receive a comprehensive benefits package, including private medical insurance, a company pension plan, life assurance, income protection, subsidised meals and an employee discount.

Food fest boost returns

THOUSANDS of visitors will once again be tucking in to tasty treats and tipples when Bolton Food and Drink Festival returns.

The festival is organised by Bolton Council in association with Aldi, and will take place over the August Bank Holiday weekend (Friday, August 24 to Monday, August 27).

Celebrity chefs Michael Caines, Nadiya Hussain, Ainsley Harriott and James Martin are the headline stars of a packed programme. Special events include gin tasting, beer and pasty, brunch and cakes and a night with top chefs Andrew Nutter and Aiden Byrne.

The festival will also feature cookery demos from top regional chefs, a speciality food, drink and crafts market with more than 200 traders, live music, street performers, and children's activities.

Local touring theatre, Little Diamond Theatre Company, have created a magical production 'Stone Soup' to entertain the families at the festival. With fun craft activities and a show that includes song, dance, music and laughter, children are sure to love this.

Sponsors are: Aldi; Stateside Foods, and Willmott Dixon.

Partners include: Arts Council; Bolton Market; Bolton Library and Museum Services; Carrs Pasties; Greater Manchester Combined Authority; Greenhalgh's Bakery; Octagon Theatre, Market Place Shopping Centre; RRG Group Ltd; Crompton Place Shopping Centre and Little Diamond Theatre Company.

For updates, visit the Food and Drink Festival website and follow the Bolton Food and Drink Festival page on Facebook or @boltonfoodfest on Twitter.

School countdown with M&S Kids

In a few months' time, parents will be leading their little ones through the school gates for the very first time! Whilst this time marks an exciting phase in your child's life, this is naturally very daunting for Mum & Dad – especially the dreaded school uniform! Let M&S Kids take the stress out of the day with new time saving innovation pieces that mean less work for busy parents.

Think ease, think comfort, think smart. Our new uniform features easy to iron shirts, permanent pleat skirts and Velcro fastenings on shirts - great for those who are still learning.

If this wasn't enough, M&S has a name labels service – all done by one simple text. Great value for money and means that you don't have to worry about mixing up PE kits!

The Easy Dressing Range is a range of uniform designed for 2-16 years, created to make dressing for school easier, quicker and more comfortable. A key piece includes the Easy Dressing Triple Action Stormwear Trousers which has no fiddly zips or buttons and simply pulls up.

All schoolwear is available in store or online now at www.marksandspencer.com

M&S Opticians to open in Bolton

One of the UK's first M&S Opticians will be opening its doors on the 16 August in Bolton.

The brand new store, on the ground floor next to the food hall of the Marks & Spencer store on Deansgate, will offer a range of optical and eye health services, including eye tests; contact lens advice and free trials; men's, women's and children's eyewear; leading designer brands; prescription sunglasses and free retinal photography. Prescriptions are also welcomed from other opticians.

The launch event, which will take place at 10am on the 16 August, will see a special local guest cut the ribbon to officially open the store to the public. Customers are able to book their eye test online or over the phone ahead of the store opening, or go into store on the day for a test depending on availability.

Ben Pedley, Optician Manager, said: "We are extremely excited to open the doors to the practice and welcome our new customers. We have a fantastic range of eyewear which we are confident will be a hit with Bolton shoppers."

Whether it's a new pair of frames, an eye test or general advice, our experienced team will be on hand to offer the high level of customer service that is synonymous with the nation's favourite retailer."

To book your eye test, book online at www.mandsopticians.com, call 0345 266 5860 or book in-store.

We'll even get the apron signed by some of our celebrity chefs.

Head over to Bolton's Food & Drink Festival website - <https://www.boltonfoodanddrinkfestival.com> - enter your email address and you could be in luck.

More than 267,000 visited the event last year, which is organised by Bolton Council in association with Aldi, and it holds the reputation of being the biggest and best food festival in the north.

Celebrity chefs Michael Caines, Nadiya Hussain, Ainsley Harriott and James Martin are the headline stars of a packed programme. Special events include gin tasting, beer and pasty, brunch and cakes and a night with top chefs Andrew Nutter and Aiden Byrne.

We'd also like to send you a short survey after the Festival, to ask what you enjoyed and what could be improved?

Everyone who completes that survey will be entered into another prize draw.

For further information about what's on during the festival turn to the centre pages or see the website <https://www.boltonfoodanddrinkfestival.com>

A world of choice for Bolton foodies

It's no secret that the stunningly transformed Market Place in Bolton is a veritable honeypot for families and fashion lovers alike.

You'll find a fabulous line up of your favourite high street brands, including Topshop, Zara, Debenhams, H&M, Next, New Look, Smiggle, JD Sports, The Entertainer and River Island in the spectacular Victorian Market Hall.

Food lovers are equally well catered for in The Vaults – Market Place's sympathetically restored vaulted cellars that offer up a variety of delights for those discerning enough to descend. From the vibrant flavours of the cheekiest chicken restaurant to hit the UK – Nando's, to the beefiest burgers in town, at Gourmet Burger Kitchen. Looking for something a little less mainstream?

The Bank Bar & Grill is your bag – with a home-created menu, bursting with flavours from around the globe. Baltic Cellar will take your taste buds on a journey to Russia and beyond, while Prezzo serves up a contemporary twist on classic Italian cuisine. Fancy a nightcap? The Cave is perfect for a cheeky tippie or two, but if you prefer your drinks on tap, Great Ale is your go-to place.

Film fans are also well served at The Light – the centre's state-of-the-art cinema, showing the latest blockbusters and classic movies.

Market Place is proud to sponsor the Bolton Food and Drink Festival 2018, from Friday 24th to Monday 27th August and to celebrate, they'll be hosting a variety of Egyptian-themed events for the whole family, right across the weekend.

See the world differently this summer

Would you love to be glasses free this summer?

Imagine holidays without the hassle of contact lenses. Swimming, lazing on the beach and playing sports can all be troublesome for glasses and contact lens wearers. Change that dream of ditching your glasses and contact lenses into reality with Visualase Laser Eye Clinic.

Based on Newport Street in Bolton town centre, we have been performing laser eye correction since 2001 and thousands of local people are already enjoying the benefits.

One patient, Kerry a strategies manager from Bolton says "Having laser eye treatment has been amazing. A few weeks after my treatment we went on holiday to Italy. It felt really strange not packing the never ending list of paraphernalia for my eyes I used to have to take with me. No more contact lenses, solutions, cleaning pots, spare glasses etc. It was great to go swimming without fear of my contact lenses being washed out and I treated myself to a great pair of designer sunglasses as I no longer needed my prescription pair. This treatment has changed my life and I want to say a huge thank you to all the team at Visualase for putting me at ease and supporting me throughout my experience".

Hilary Duxbury, clinic manager says "It is always lovely to receive such wonderful feedback like we hear from Kerry and many patients come to Visualase from recommendations they have received from family, friends & colleagues".

To make laser eye treatment affordable to every patient, there's a wide range of payment plans including 18 months 0% interest-free credit.

An assessment and consultation, which is performed by your treating doctor to determine whether you are a suitable candidate for laser eye correction, is free of charge.

For more information, phone Visualase on (01204) 387467 or visit www.visualase.com

What's on at Bolton Museum and Library

Excitement is building with the new Egyptology gallery set to open as Bolton Scene was in production.

But in the meantime there's lots to do and see.

Arty Babies!

Calling all babies and their families.

Join us for Arty Babies which brings our collections and resources to life through songs, play and sensory activities. Suitable for ages 0 to 2 years.

Free entry, just pop by. Arty Babies will meet at 10.30am on: Tuesday 14 August and Tuesday 28 August.

Animals and Us exhibition

Leopold, the inquisitive mouse, guides visitors through the exhibition, showing them how all animals – from insects to elephants – are an important part of our everyday lives.

The Animals and Us exhibition is in the new exhibition space on the lower ground floor of the museum in Le Mans Crescent.

In the 'Grand Hall' visitors can see how animals appear as symbols for big ideas; in the 'Curator's Office' they can learn why museums have natural history collections, while on the 'High Street' the emphasis will be on how animals have influenced fashion.

The 'Farmyard' highlights how animals have been key to our survival, and finally 'The Lodge' will show how they have become a major part of our leisure, home and family life.

Entrance to the exhibition is free. It's open to Sat 1 September, Mon, Tue, Thur, Fri and Sat 9am to 5pm, Wed 9.30am to 5pm and Sun 10am to 4pm.

Down Memory Lane - reminiscence group

Do you or someone you know have dementia? Bolton Central Library hosts an Age UK group for people with early onset dementia and their carers.

Come along for an informal chat, experience the reminiscence boxes, share memories and reminisce. Light refreshments provided.

The sessions take place on the first Wednesday of the month, until 5 December, between 11.30am and 1pm. For more information contact Bolton Central Library on 01204 332853 or Dawn Crossley at Age UK on 01204 701525 or dawn.crossley@ageukbolton.org.uk

Tall tales in the park

This summer the Octagon Theatre Bolton will transform Queens Park into the extraordinary land of Lilliput from the classic children's tale Gulliver's Travels.

Gulliver's fantastical adventures will be brought to life for a huge celebration of Bolton communities in the Octagon's first ever park show.

A cast of professional actors will be joined each performance by young performers, local choirs and community companies featuring a puppet that is eight metres high and currently the tallest puppet being made in the UK.

Gulliver is a traveller and a teller of some rather tall tales. This one is maybe his tallest yet! Gulliver wants to be a hero in his daughter's eyes. So he takes her on a journey to a land where he is literally a giant. Travel with Gulliver to the land of Lilliput where war is brewing, trouble is coming and Gulliver finds himself at the centre of it all.

We hope you and your family can join us on the adventure this summer.

New routes make beeline for success

A NEW walking and cycling route to Bolton town centre along Chorley Old Road could be created.

The £1.5m project is the first scheme put forward to the Greater Manchester Mayor's Cycling and Walking Challenge Fund

The scheme includes signed quiet routes, improved crossings and routes through parks and public spaces.

It's part of seventy-one miles of new walking and cycling routes planned across the borough as part of a new network across Greater Manchester.

As well as the new routes, eight miles of Dutch-style segregated cycling lanes and 124 new or upgraded crossing points are being proposed to better connect every community in the borough and to make cycling and walking a real alternative to the car.

The plans are part of a new 1000 mile long network - named Beelines - that has been developed with all 10 of the local authorities in Greater Manchester.

The proposals, were announced by Greater Manchester's Cycling and Walking Commissioner, Chris Boardman, this summer.

Bolton Council's Executive Cabinet Member for Highways, Cllr David Chadwick, said: "Beelines is all about connecting communities and this project will make it easier and safer for people to cycle and walk to the town centre.

"The scheme for the Chorley Old Road area was identified through working with Sustrans - a sustainable transport charity that wants to make it easier for people to walk and cycle."

Greater Manchester's Cycling and Walking Commissioner, Chris Boardman, said: "The list of proposed projects announced is the first of many for each local authority. One thing we won't compromise on is quality; we're working closely with all 10 local authorities."

Get help to find work

DO YOU need or do you know someone who needs free support finding work or improving their skills?

Skills for Employment is a Greater Manchester Programme which offers free one to one support, training, qualifications, work experience and help finding the perfect job. Around 40% of people who enrolled on the scheme have found work since it started in 2016.

Bolton Council's Workshop has supported hundreds of people through the programme. In the latest figures released, out of 14 suppliers across Greater Manchester, the team were first for placing people into work placements and qualifications and fourth in terms of job outcomes.

Participants need to be aged 19+ (or 18+ if in receipt of out of work benefits on the day they start on the programme), unemployed, not in full time education or with limited recent employment experience.

To find out more - please contact Bolton Council's Workshop on 01204 333209, email - elaine.sessions@bolton.gov.uk or visit the Skills for Employment page on the council's website.

Curtain up for Octagon's new look

CULTURE ATTRACTION: Plans to redevelop the Bolton Octagon Theatre will see it greatly expand

BUILDING work has started on the new look Octagon Theatre.

The work will see the theatre enlarged and modernised; be more accessible to those with disabilities; have more space for young people and community groups; improve audience comfort and facilities including air conditioning, seats and toilets; have two multi-purpose studio spaces for rehearsals, participation activities and performances; and have new revamped café and bar areas.

The new look building will open in 2020.

In the meantime productions won't finish with the theatre performing around the borough as part of its 'Out and About' season. Productions will take place in locations such as Queens Park, the Macron Stadium and the Albert Halls.

Staff have moved to temporary offices. The box office and café at the Market Place Shopping Centre.

Tickets will be available to purchase as usual online and over the phone as well as in person from the temporary box office on the upper floor next to Debenhams.

The theatre's drama groups including Art Beat, Headspace, the Youth Theatre and Bridges Company will all also be relocating to the Market Place.

The project is being supported by Arts Council England, Bolton Council, grants from supporters, trusts, foundations, and the ongoing public fundraising campaign Octagon Reimagined.

The project is the biggest redevelopment in the theatre's 50 year history and will ensure that the Octagon will be open and accessible for artists and audiences for generations to come.

Celebrating Armed Forces Week

A PACKED programme of events celebrated Armed Forces Week this summer.

The Armed Forces flag was raised over the town hall to fly all week leading up to Armed Forces Day.

The day saw Bolton Sea Cadets raise their ensign flown from their mast head, followed by a short service and a wreath laying ceremony.

There were cadet marching displays, armed forces vehicles and equipment on shows, and an inter-cadet challenge.

Local voluntary and armed forces organisations had stalls and exhibitions and there was an inflatable darts stadia and lots of children's activities.

It was attended by the Duke of Lancaster Regiment; 216 Battery Bolton Artillery; Bolton United Services Veterans Association (established 1906), other veteran organisations and Bolton's Combined Forces Cadets.

COMMEMORATION HONOUR: Members of local veterans organisations and other groups took part in a service and wreath laying as part of the Armed Forces Day events

Bolton embraces health apps

TO HELP us all be a little healthier, the council and health service have launched a free website to help us find the best and safest health and care apps.

Lots of us are already using apps to support our exercise or diet but, wider than this, with more than 325,000 health and care apps on the market it becomes a bit of a lottery to choose the one best for you.

A new website at bolton.orcha.co.uk is here to help.

ORCHA (Organisation for the Review of Care and Health Applications) carries out independent and impartial reviews of health and care related apps; looking at, for example, their effectiveness and data security. These apps are then split into categories such as quit smoking, fitness, stress, diabetes, and mental health with the highest rated ones always at the top.

Health and care professionals in Bolton are being given awareness training, so that where appropriate they can recommend apps to patients to support their care. ORCHA has already been introduced to almost half of all GP Practices in Bolton, and this will continue in coming months, as plans also reach Bolton NHS Foundation Trust, and local voluntary services.

"It's all about getting technology to work for us to make us fitter and healthier," said Councillor Debbie Newall, Executive Cabinet Member for Adult Social Care and Health.

"This is a real opportunity for people to take control of their own health. This site means that we can be more independent – we can learn more about our health, and we can improve our chances of staying healthy."

Dr Liaqat Natha, a Bolton GP added "I'm fully supportive of ORCHA and of patients working to manage their own health and find apps that are the best and most trustworthy. Not only is it helpful for patients to use themselves, but as health and care professionals it's great to have the option to recommend the best apps as part of our care delivery."

Visit bolton.orcha.co.uk now to find out more.

Ironman UK's sporting success

IRONMAN UK Bolton reached more than five million views from fans all around the world on Facebook.

Live race coverage of the gruelling triathlon attracted a global audience on Facebook Watch, which notched up 163,000 reactions and 9,500 shares.

Almost 10 hours of live broadcasting gave extensive coverage of the event, which saw thousands of athletes and spectators take over Bolton at the weekend for the town's tenth Ironman UK spectacular.

Around 2,500 competitors swam, cycled and ran in the epic challenge, finishing in Bolton town centre on Victoria Square.

This year, athletes swapped their bikes for running shoes at Queens Park, on Spa Road – previously this took place at the Macron Stadium. The park also hosted free live music and free family fun.

The world's largest

Ironkids, held the day before, saw 3,000 children participate in the town centre 'fun run'. The event is worth around £3 million a year to the local economy and Bolton has successfully staged the triathlon since 2009.

Bolton will continue to host the Ironman UK triathlon until 2022.

Have your say about rights of way

YOUR views are being sort about public paths and other rights of way.

Public paths, including public rights of way and routes in parks, have traditionally enabled people to exercise and explore the countryside around them and, increasingly, are popular routes for commuting and accessing essential local amenities.

The council is seeking comments about its latest draft Rights of Way Improvement Plan (ROWIP) 2018-2028. The plan assesses the current rights of way network and identifies steps which the council intends to take with various stakeholders.

The draft plan looks at the way that the network is managed in the context of challenging public finances and addressing the challenges and opportunities which arise as a result of the continued high level of development within the borough.

You can find a copy of the draft plan by going to the website: www.bolton.gov.uk/consultations or view a paper version at the One Stop Shop.

The deadline for comments is 10 November.

Comments can be sent by email to consultation@bolton.gov.uk or by post to Directorate of Place, Public Rights of Way, 3rd Floor, Paderborn House, Howell Croft North, Bolton BL1 1UA.

Joint bid to host World Cup

COUNCILS across Greater Manchester have launched their bids to host the Rugby League World Cup in 2021.

Bolton, Manchester, Wigan and Trafford are all bidding to host games for what promises to be the biggest Rugby League World Cup ever. Oldham and Salford are also bidding to be a part of the tournament through hosting sides and events, with Rochdale planning support activities and building on their strong links with Fiji.

The rugby spectacular will be watched worldwide by an estimated 150 million people across 115 countries.

The tournament, which will be held in October and November 2021, will feature the men's, women's and wheelchair tournaments.

It will bring 40 squads of elite players to the UK, as well as thousands of overseas supporters, making it the most diverse and inclusive rugby league tournament ever held. More than 1 million people will attend the games over the five weeks the tournament runs.

As well as hosting a successful tournament the Greater Manchester bids will focus on the legacy of the tournament and increasing health and wellbeing among all ages.

Cllr Thomas, the Leader of Bolton Council said: "Events are a key part of our regeneration strategy to improve the prosperity of the borough and the Rugby League World Cup 2021 is a unique and fantastic opportunity. The tournament ment into the borough to boost the local economy."

Keeping people safe and sound

DO you care for someone who has dementia and worried that they might go missing?

You can help keep them safe and sound by recording vital information about them.

Bolton Council is supporting a new national scheme, 'The Herbert Protocol', which can help.

The idea is that beforehand you complete a form recording all the information about the person who might go missing.

This can include places they like to go, medication, their general routine, description, and a recent photograph.

Should they go missing the form can be quickly given to the police to reduce the time taken to gather this information, and remove some of the stress.

"There is nothing more frightening or distressing than when a loved one, friend, or neighbour fails to return when they should," said Councillor Debbie Newall, Executive Cabinet Member for Adult Social Care Health.

"By preparing beforehand, families and carers have one less thing to worry about should someone go missing.

"Improving the lives of people living with dementia is a priority for the council. Following a successful pilot in Horwich, we have launched the Bolton Dementia Alliance to bring local organisations, groups, and businesses together. Each organisation has an action plan of how they aim to improve the lives of people living with dementia.

"In Bolton the number of people aged 65 and over with dementia is expected to grow from 3,187 in 2017 to 4,625 in 2030. By working with other agencies our aim is to make Bolton and Greater Manchester the best place to live in the world for people with dementia, and their carers, by 2020."

Wanderers legend opens new 3G pitch

BOLTON Wanderers all-time Premier League leading goalscorer, Kevin Davies, officially opened a new third generation artificial grass pitch with Cllr John Byrne at Ladybridge High School.

Bolton Council invested £400,000 from its capital budget towards the project and Ladybridge High School was also awarded a £143,302 grant from the Premier League and The FA Facilities Fund, which is delivered by the Football Foundation.

The funding enabled Ladybridge High School to install a new state-of-the-art pitch, replacing a grass pitch.

The new pitch will benefit community groups as it can be used in the evening thanks to the installation of floodlights.

Bolton Wanderers FC Community Trust also plan to use the site to deliver weekly Premier League Kicks sessions.

Cllr John Byrne, Executive Cabinet Member for Culture, Youth and Sport in Bolton, said: "This pitch will provide a high quality, modern facility which can be used all year round, in any weather."

Youth connect in conference

ONE hundred and thirty children from across the borough joined in a conference to discuss how they could play their part in Bolton's plans for the future.

The second annual Youth Vision Conference, at the Albert Halls, was centred on the theme of 'being connected'.

And children from 34 schools completed a series of missions, including an 'Apprentice' style challenge. Groups of budding entrepreneurs pitched projects to a panel of how they could connect better with their community.

Ideas included helping older people to use digital technology, organising school litter picks, and asking local businesses to come into school to talk about jobs.

Chair of the Vision Partnership, Dave Singleton, said: "The event was tremendous and showed that young people matter. Young people have a certain insight that is not tainted. Vision 2030 is a vision for every person in Bolton."

Executive Cabinet Member for Children's Services, Councillor Ann Cunliffe, added: "The youth of Bolton are absolutely fantastic and definitely connected and engaged in their Bolton Vision 2030."

Ammar Ingar, aged 11, from Sunninghill Primary School, said: "I liked presenting my idea to the panel and communicating with the panel to help Bolton's Vision".

Hafsah Patel, aged 9, also from Sunning Hill, added: "I liked having my voice heard and having my idea heard to help Bolton in the future."

Support following the fire

The Ironman Foundation is donating $10 000 (£7667.20) to two Bolton-based groups who have been a vital part of the efforts to control the massive moorland blaze on Winter Hill.

Donations of £3833.60 each will go towards two local groups whose volunteers were a central part of the response to the fires – Bolton Mountain Rescue Team, and the Rivington Gardens Trust.

With IRONMAN UK having taken place in Bolton last month for the 10th year, the race organisers worked with Bolton Council so the race could go ahead safely.

Bolton Council's Executive Cabinet Member for Culture, Tourism and Sport, Cllr John Byrne said: "It is fantastic that the IRONMAN Foundation is honouring local charities who have worked extraordinarily hard in the aftermath of the Winter Hill fires."

The 2019 edition of IRONMAN UK will take place Sunday 14 July 2019, general entries are now open on the event website. For more information, please visit the event website, www.ironman.com/uk.

Back to the days of steam

BOLTON Steam Museum opens its doors this summer and winter for its popular steamings.

Its volunteers have rescued and restored 30 old stationary steam engines, some of the engines which once powered the cotton mills and woollen mills of the North of England, including six built in Bolton. Some of the engines are now unique - the only one of their kind to survive anywhere in the world.

The oldest is now 180 years old and most are well over 100.

The museum will be open:

- Sunday 26 and Monday 27 August from 10am - 4pm
- Saturday 27 and Sunday 28 October from 10am - 4pm
- Friday 28 and Saturday 29 December from 10am - 4pm

Bolton Steam Museum is on Mornington Road, off Chorley Old Road, Bolton, BL1 4EU behind Morrisons. Admission is free and there's further information on www.nmes.org

New look museum to open its doors

BOLTON Museum's exciting new exhibition and gallery spaces are to open their doors this September.

The refurbished museum, opens with a Family Fun Day on Saturday 22 September with a whole range of activities.

It will take place from 9.30-3.30pm with tours of the new museum, interactive storytelling, craft activities, glitter tattoos and facepainting, photo booths, badge and keyring making and lots more.

As well as objects from Bolton's history and of local interest there are three new galleries.

Visitors to 'Bolton's Egypt' will be able to learn about the town's important links to the world of pharaohs and pyramids in the family-friendly, interactive gallery.

Bolton's Egyptology collection is one of the most significant ancient Egyptian collections in the UK. A local mill owner's daughter, Annie Barlow, was a member of the Egypt Exploration Society in the 19th Century and helped to raise funds for excavations in Egypt. The Egypt Exploration Society donated numerous finds to the Chadwick Museum - the Victorian forerunner for Bolton Museum.

A new 'Bolton's Nature' gallery has been created which, as well as objects from the natural history collection, will include new animals such as a huge brown bear from Manchester Museum.

The museum's collection of paintings, sculptures, statues and other artworks will now also be on display in a new gallery called Bolton's Art.

The museum has been closed since December

AFTER LIFE: How the full size replica of the pharaoh's tomb will look 2016 while the work has been taking place. The project also includes work to the other exhibition spaces in the museum and art gallery along with essential maintenance to the Grade II listed building.

The £3.8 million scheme has been funded from one-off capital funding, income from the museum's exhibitation, plus a contribution from sponsor Eddie Davies.

The Leader of Bolton Council, Cllr Linda Thomas, said: "Bolton's Egypt is a wonderful showcase of our nationally important artefacts and the museum is renowned for its extensive Egyptology collection.

"This will be a major tourism attraction for Greater Manchester and the North West which will attract national acclaim, enhance our visitor numbers and further boost business in the town

"As the Culture Lead for the Greater Manchester Combined Authority I am proud that as a town Bolton is helping to put us on the map as a region of great cultural activity."

Sing Hallelujah for return of musical theatre

SISTER Act, Whoopi Goldberg's 1992 smash hit, is coming to the Albert Halls in September, as musical theatre returns to the venue.

The show, staged by Bolton Catholic Musical and Choral Society (BCMCS), tells the hilarious story of Deloris Van Cartier, a disco diva whose life takes a surprising turn when she witnesses a gangland murder. Under police protective custody she is hidden in the one place she won't be found - a convent.

Disguised as a nun, she finds herself at odds with both the rigid lifestyle and an uptight Mother Superior. The convent and its church are facing financial difficulties but using her unique disco moves and singing talent to inspire the choir, Deloris breathes new life into the church and community, but in doing so, blows her cover. Soon, the gangsters are giving chase only to find themselves up against Deloris and the universal power of her new found friendship and sisterhood.

Filled with powerful gospel music, outrageous dancing and a truly moving story, all performed by a cast chock full of amazingly talented actors and backed by a live orchestra, Sister Act is a must see event in the calendar of amateur theatre in Bolton.

The show will be performed on 25-29 September at the Albert Halls commencing at 7.30pm. There is also a matinee performance on Saturday 29 September starting at 2.30pm.

For the hard of hearing the performance on Thursday 27 September at 7.30pm will be a BSL translated one.

Tickets can be bought online at www.stagestubs.com or through the BCMCS website at www.bcmcs.co.uk. Family and group tickets are available by phoning the BCMCS Ticketline on 07955 064976.
