How the redeveloped Church Wharf could look

First steps for Bolton masterplan

Developments are beginning to come forward as part of the town centre plan. From housing to office to leisure developments the council is working with the private sector to improve Bolton town centre. In this edition of 'Our Bolton' we present a round up of what is happening.

New £150m Church Wharf development

Muse Development's £150m proposals to transform Church Wharf have been approved. The scheme will create a new riverside neighbourhood in the heart of Bolton town centre, with a mix of up to 352 homes, a new hotel, commercial offices, and leisure and retail opportunities. Church Wharf was approved following a period of consultation on the key benefits of the proposal early this year. The neighbourhood will provide new homes to Bolton town centre, create permanent employment opportunities and construction jobs, as well as delivering a significant boost to the local economy.

Green light for £35m housing scheme

A £35m development of 262 new homes has been given the go-ahead the planning committee today.

The homes will be a mix of apartments and town houses in the Croal Valley on land fronting St Georges Road between Bark Street and Back Bark Street.

The residential scheme is from Bolton-based company Forshaw Land & Property Group Ltd and includes fully equipped gymnasiums, private cinemas, residents' lounges and a roof terrace.

Croal Valley is one of Bolton Council's five intervention areas within its £1.2bn town centre masterplan.

Partners to redevelop the Crompton Place shopping centre

The Crompton Place shopping centre and surrounding area is to be redeveloped in a £250m scheme.

International property investment, development and construction company Beijing Construction Engineering Group International (BCEGI) is working with real estate investment and development specialist Midia, Bolton Regeneration Limited (BRL) and the council. BCEGI is already working on schemes at the £1bn Airport City, Manchester; the new £1bn Salford mixed use neighbourhood, Middlewood Locks, and The Lexington, Liverpool, a £90m 35-storey residential development.

Croal Valley

Plans for £27.5m build to rent urban village

Central Street car park, could be transformed in a £27.5m development with the town's first purpose-built build-to-rent urban village. A planning application has been submitted by developer Placefirst, for four blocks designed around a network of pedestrian streets, courtyards, rooftop terraces and resident gardens.

New administration for council

Following last month's local elections a new administration has been formed to run the council.

Councillor David Greenhalgh, the Leader of the Conservative group has become Leader of the Council and has appointed a Cabinet:

Cllr Greenhalgh

Leader of the Council

Responsibility for corporate and strategic decisions including the budget; Registrars and Coroners services

Message from the Leader of the Council

"It is a huge honour and privilege to be writing this message as the new Leader of Bolton Council. I'm Bolton born and bred, and care deeply about the future of this great town of ours.

"We have a lot in this borough we can be incredibly proud of: from its history and heritage, and its wonderful civic centre, to the magnificent countryside on our doorstep; from our award-winning museum and theatre to nationally acclaimed events such as the Food and Drink Festival and Ironman UK; from our businesses and entrepreneurs to our charities and community groups. We have great talent and a great opportunity.

"However, our borough faces a number of challenges that aren't going to be solved overnight, but I believe I have put together a team, who will govern openly and transparently, and who are committed to addressing those challenges head on, in order to create a Bolton and borough we can all be proud of, and where all residents feel engaged, empowered and included.

"This is your borough, and we will consult with you, particularly around plans to regenerate our towns. We will invest more in the condition of our roads and in the cleanliness of our borough, and we will regenerate a town centre that was once the envy of the north west. We will look after those most vulnerable and in need of our help, and work with schools to increase educational attainment.

"I will promote our borough wherever I go. I will fight its corner, I will lobby for more investment, I will engage with developers and attract new businesses. The people of this borough are one of its greatest strengths. Their well renowned friendliness, humour and grit are what makes Bolton what it is, and together I hope we can take our town from strength to strength."

Cllr David Greenhalgh

I LOVE BOLTON BECAUSE...

We love our Town and want to shout about it, so tell us why you love Bolton by visiting

www.thisisbolton.org

Shout about why you love Bolton...

A campaign has been launched inviting people to shout about why they love Bolton.

People are being asked to complete the following sentence: 'I love Bolton because...'

It is part of a campaign co-ordinated by the 'Big Up Bolton' group, led by the Vision Partnership.

Its aim is to refresh Bolton's brand identity and encourage a positive perception of the town.

The first phase is public engagement. Residents, visitors and workers across the whole borough are being encouraged to share why they believe it is such a great place to live, work, study, visit and invest.

There are a number of ways to take part - you can visit www.thisisbolton.org and complete a simple form and engage with social media using the hashtags #iloveboltonbecause and #thisisbolton.

Ballot boxes will also be distributed across the borough into which you can post your response.

Primary school children will be encouraged to represent what they love about Bolton through drawings and creative writing.

This feedback will inform the next steps to build a strong and celebrated Bolton identity, 'This Is Bolton', that will be recognised globally.

Key businesses already supporting the campaign include Market Place, the Octagon Theatre, the University of Bolton, Bolton College, Stateside Foods, Carrs Pasties, Bolton at Home, Bolton Council, The Bolton News, Xplode and Bolton Community and Voluntary Service.

Dave Singleton, Chair of The Bolton Vision

Partnership, said: "Bolton has so much to offer and we want people to start shouting about what they love about the town."

Tony Oakman, Chief Executive of Bolton Council, added: "We are delighted to be a major partner in this campaign.

"We should celebrate all the wonderful things about Bolton and be excited about the economic regeneration now taking shape."

New Mayor's championing community

Bolton's new Mayor is Councillor Hilary Fairclough.

The Mayor is a ceremonial position to represent the borough and to raise money for charity.

Cllr Fairclough grew up in Astley Bridge and has lived there for most of her life. She attended Clarence Street Nursery, St Paul's Church School, Smithills Secondary School, before training as a hairdresser at Bolton Technical College.

She worked at several hair salons and then managed a family business before she and her husband ran a post office in Astley Bridge.

Cllr Fairclough was first elected to the council in 2000 and has represented Astley Bridge ever since. She has been chair of the Environment Scrutiny and Licensing committees, and served on the health, environment, corporate and culture committees.

She has also served as the chair of the Parent Teacher Association of Sharples Secondary and High Lawn Primary schools, as well as being a magistrate for 25 years.

Her husband, Don, will be the Mayor's Escort.

The couple met in 1968 and were married in 1972. They have two children and four lively grandchildren.

Her chosen charities, for which she will be organising fundraising events, are Bolton Hospice, Fortalice, Bolton Dementia Support, Asian Elders and Bolton Scouts Bibby's Farm.

She said: "I am looking forward to meeting groups, charities, businesses and individuals from every part of the borough and celebrating their achievements."

"I shall do everything I can to promote the whole town and champion the hard work of our vibrant and caring community."

- Cllr Fairclough

Bolton Food & Drink Festival 2019

Clear your calendar, set your alarm and come and join us this August Bank Holiday weekend for some of the best family entertainment around.

Bolton's celebrated Food and Drink Festival is back for its 14th year and it's better than ever.

We're delighted that friends of the festival and national treasures, The Hairy Bikers are making a welcome return to Bolton (they last rode into town in August 2011) so they're sure to be popular!

We're also joined by greengrocer turned TV presenter extraordinaire, the fantastic Greg Wallace who knows a thing or two about food and, of course, our festival wouldn't be what it is without the wonderful Mr James Martin and the equally fabulous Michael Caines.

This year's festival will, as you'd expect, be brimming with food, drink, arts and crafts traders, fantastic live music on our stages as well as some of the country's best street entertainers.

We also know the kids (young and old) like to be entertained and this year we're introducing a great new family zone in Crompton Place right at the heart of the Festival, so come along to try your hand at loads of fun, free activities all weekend.

Ironman sporting festival

IRONMAN UK returns to Bolton on Sunday 14 July for the eleventh time in its 15-year history.

The same weekend sees the world's largest Ironkids event on Saturday 13 July. And this year also sees the introduction of Night Run, a fun race anyone can take part in.

The global triathlon will see 3000 athletes completing a 2.4m swim, 112-mile bike ride and 26.2-mile marathon.

The beautiful lake swim will take place in Pennington Flash with numerous viewing opportunities for spectators.

The bike course includes the famous Sheep House Lane and new to 2019 the course now takes athletes into the heart of Bolton with cyclists riding on the cobbles of Le Mans Crescent, where spectators can get up close and personal with the athletes. The run begins at T2 at Queens Park and athletes will head into Bolton town centre, out and back through Queens Park completing four loops before finishing in Victoria Square.

Ironkids, which sold out in record time of just four hours this year, will see 3000 kids running through the town centre on Saturday morning.

The sporting weekend is set to be even bigger and better this year with the introduction of Night Run, an evening 5km fun run open to anyone aged 16 plus. Night Run will take place on Friday 12 July at 7pm, creating a full three-day festival weekend. Bolton town centre and Queen's Park will be filled with free fun-filled family activities across the weekend, including henna and face painting, giant garden games, ping-pong, wrestling, fairground rides, climbing wall, running track, cycling and e-sports.

Entertainment and live music will fill the streets with roaming bands, kids bands and a live music stage in Queen's Park. 2019 will also see the exciting new addition of the Festival Zone which will include a live music stage with various performers across the weekend, a bar, delicious food and seating area.

Careline

7,000 people in Bolton have a Careline service.

Could we help you feel more confident and independent at home?

Service prices for individual customers for April 2019 - March 2020

Careline 24/7 Monitoring and Emergency Response

£4.40 per week.

Get help from our experienced staff at the touch of a button. We can respond if you need emergency help at any time of the day or night.

Careline (as above) and Telecare

£8.47 per week.

Each piece of Telecare equipment has a sensor that is remotely connected to the base unit and works by sending a radio wave signal. If a sensor detects a potential accident such as a fall or a bed sensor it alerts our Careline Team.

'I'm OK' unit

The I'm OK unit has a button that you can press every morning to let Careline know that you are ok.

Level A: £5.35 per week.

If you haven't pressed the button by an agreed time, our Careline Team will be alerted and will contact your relatives.

Level B: £6.44 per week.

If you haven't pressed the button by an agreed time, our Careline Team will be alerted and our Emergency Response Team will visit to ensure you are alright.

Level C: £8.04 per week.

Includes the Careline 24/7 Monitoring and Emergency Response Service and someone will give you a daily morning call instead of you having to press the 'I'm ok' button.
